

the fulbrighter

A U S T R A L I A

2008 Australian Scholars with U.S. Ambassador to Australia Mr Robert D. McCallum, Jr. (centre)

Depth and diversity in 2008 Australian Scholars

The U.S. Ambassador to Australia, Mr Robert D. McCallum, Jr., was impressed by “the breadth, depth, variety and diversity of the new Fulbright Australian Scholars”, when he congratulated and welcomed them into the Fulbright family at the Fulbright Presentation Dinner on 13 March.

The Presentation Dinner, the first to be held in Western Australia, was hosted by the University of Western Australia at Winthrop Hall, with Edith Cowan University’s Western Australian Academy of Performing Arts providing a performance by percussion ensemble Defying Gravity.

The 2008 Scholars were announced by the Australian-American Fulbright Commission’s Executive Director, Mr Mark Darby. In presenting the Scholars, Mr Darby said the successful Scholars truly demonstrated the breadth and diversity in research amongst Australia’s brightest (see list on page 4).

The Scholars were presented to and congratulated by the Honorary Co-Chair of the Fulbright Commission, Ambassador McCallum; the Western Australian Minister for Education and Training, the Hon. Mark McGowan MLA; and National President of the Australian Fulbright Alumni Association, Dr Tony Worby.

In congratulating the Scholars, Ambassador McCallum spoke about the importance of the Fulbright Program as a premier exchange program.

“The importance of this program in Australia to the United States can not, to my view, be overstated because it provides a certain texture and strength to the fabric of good relations that have existed for so many years between our two countries.”

“The studying abroad, the exchange of ideas, the exchange of information, the familiarity which that breeds, have enriched both our nations, over that extended period of time,” said Ambassador McCallum.

The Western Australian Minister for Education and Training, Mark McGowan, used the occasion to announce the WA Government’s support of the Fulbright WA Scholarship and the importance of Western Australia’s relationship with the U.S.

“We have a long history of a relationship with the United States, that has many exciting parts to its history but it was very much cemented in the worst days, the darkest days, of the second world war, back at the end of 1941...The relationship has continued since that point in time and we have always valued that relationship – it has always been something that is deep and abiding and we value very much in Western Australia and would like to see continue,” said Minister McGowan.

inside

| | |
|---|----|
| Executive Director’s Update | 02 |
| Harriet Mayor Fulbright visits Australia | 03 |
| 2008 Australian Fulbright Scholars | 04 |
| U.S. Senior Specialist Program | 06 |
| 2008 Fulbright Symposium | 06 |
| Fulbright Alumni Initiative Grant | 07 |
| Alumni Association Awards | 07 |
| 2008 AFAA U.S. Region Chapter Representatives/Committee | 07 |
| Events and dates for 2008 | 08 |

ED's Update

It was an honour to welcome Mrs Harriet Fulbright to Australia in December. In what was her sixth visit, but her first since her investiture with an Honorary Order of Australia, Mrs Fulbright was welcomed by Ambassador McCallum, Fulbright Scholars, Alumni and Board Members.

Her public lecture on "The role of Arts and the Humanities in building International Understanding", hosted by the University of Sydney, was well received by a diverse audience.

It has been a busy start to the year with the Fulbright Presentation Dinner held in March for the first time. The primary reason for this move was to allow earlier notification of Australian Fulbright Scholars and thus assist their preparation for the United States.

Our thanks to the University of Western Australia, and Edith Cowan University and the Western Australian Academy of Performing Arts for their support in hosting the Presentation Dinner in Perth.

It was a pleasure to have Ambassador McCallum and Mrs Mimi McCallum, and The Hon. Mark McGowan, WA Minister for Education & Training, as our guests of honour.

The event not only presented the Australian Fulbright Scholars, but also celebrated the connection of WA with Fulbright and the United States through the establishment of the Fulbright WA Scholarship Fund.

Our thanks and congratulations to all the donors and the Fundraising Committee who have made this possible. With a target of $1 million, to date $986,000 has been received or committed to this fund to support two Fulbright WA scholarships in perpetuity.

The Fulbright Board and U.S. Consul General to Perth, Dr Ken Chern, hosted a lunch on the Friday following the dinner to personally thank donors and committee members. We were pleased that The Hon. Julie Bishop, Deputy Leader of the Opposition and local member for Curtin, could join us for this celebration.

I look forward to meeting you around Australia at various Fulbright state events during April / May. We will also be developing U.S. events with our new Fulbright Alumni Chapters in October, following the arrival of this year's Australian Scholars.

Mark Darby, Executive Director

Defying Gravity lead guests into Winthrop Hall, UWA

WA Scholars Abul Hashem, Clyde McGill, Minister Mark McGowan, Ambassador Robert McCallum, Anthony Robinson and Brenda Cherednichenko

Ambassador Robert McCallum and former Commission Board Chair Professor Peter Coaldrake

Fulbright Board Member and Murdoch Vice-Chancellor, John Yovich, and Visual and Performing Arts Scholar Clyde McGill

DEPTH AND DIVERSITY IN 2008 AUSTRALIAN SCHOLARS (CONTINUED)

"Events like tonight are part of making sure that deep relationship continues. A further part in making sure it continues is the new endowment fund for the Fulbright WA Scholarship. The fund is being contributed to not just by sponsors, but it is also being contributed to by a $500,000 donation from the West Australian state government. We are very proud and pleased to be a part of it."

"Congratulation to all the people who have been selected, it's a wonderful opportunity to go to the United States to study and learn, it will build the relationship, it will make sure you are enriched and hopefully the United States is enriched by your presence," stated Minister McGowan.

Ambassador McCallum also used the occasion to acknowledge the work by former Fulbright Commission Chair, Professor Peter Coaldrake, Vice-Chancellor of Queensland University of Technology, with a certificate of appreciation for his time as a Board Member and Chair.

Professor Coaldrake was a Board Member from August 2003 to December 2007 and served as Board Chair for three of those years. He was twice a Fulbright Scholar, in 1981 as a Postdoctoral Fellow and in 2001 as a Senior Scholar Fulbright Alumnus.

"With this background he has brought great energy and a wealth of knowledge to the position, and was responsible for guiding the establishment of the Fulbright Queensland Scholarship and has been just as active in encouraging Vice-Chancellors in other states to follow suit," stated Ambassador McCallum.

In accepting the certificate, Professor Coaldrake highlighted the State Scholarships as a major achievement of the Board during his time as Chair. "Being able to contribute in the Board role has been a real pleasure and a really easy job," he said.

At the conclusion of dinner it was announced the 2009 Fulbright Presentation Dinner will be hosted by the University of Tasmania in Hobart.

Harriet Mayor Fulbright visits Australia

the darkness of World War Two were still fresh, and Bill Fulbright's dream of a world program was barely three years old. "He felt a kinship towards Australia and he really enjoyed the Australian people and their sense of humour," Harriet recalls. "Fulbright had a wonderful sense of humour. And Australians and Americans share the same language, the same value systems in many, many ways."

"Australia," she says of the Australian-American Fulbright Commission, "is outstanding in many ways. Take minorities, for example. Australia is outstanding in that it specifically has a grant for the indigenous population. They also have a grant specifically for the arts."

The Australian program, she believes, is "moving in the right direction" and overall is very exciting. But what's missing, as always, is additional funding. "I really want to see the program increased. The U.S. government claims it has increased our funding, but in reality they have barely kept up with inflation. They have not kept up with the increased cost of transportation, nor with increasing interest in the Muslim countries of the world."

Given her optimism, and enthusiasm for carrying on Bill Fulbright's legacy, I wonder aloud if Harriet sees any shortcomings in the Fulbright scheme, things that could have been done better. She doesn't hesitate. "I think we should have started long before this with the Muslim populations. The Middle East, we have paid virtually no attention to them until recently, and to our detriment," she says. "It's a priority now, and a very difficult one, because we do now have a program in Iraq but it's not a real Fulbright program because it's only the Iraqis coming to the U.S."

True to her character, Harriet Fulbright is already working on a solution. "We've got a lot of Muslim alumni," she says, "and we've got to learn better how to call on them." The Middle East might deter most Americans these days, but not the indomitable global ambassador of the Fulbrights. "It's a wonderful model," she says glowingly of her husband's achievement, "among the very best."

On her recent whirlwind trip to Australia, the President of the J. William and Harriet Fulbright Center, Harriet Fulbright, took an hour from her hectic schedule to speak with Sydney author and journalist Tony Maniaty. She is, he found, a gently-spoken tower of strength, with plenty of opinions and fresh ideas.

This is an extract from the article – to read full article visit: www.fulbright.com.au

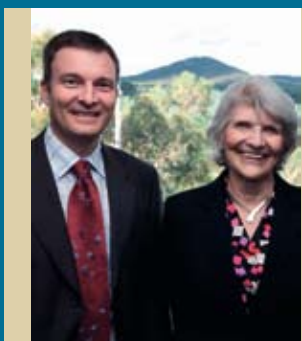

Harriet Mayor Fulbright is impressively calm. My first thought on meeting this eloquent and charming woman is what a magnificent foil she must have been to her dynamic late husband, Bill Fulbright, the feisty Democrat senator who drew both praise and criticism for his opposition to the Vietnam War, who mixed high values and political clout to stunning effect.

"Bill Fulbright said it's very important to stay close and understand your friends, but it's more important to stay closer and understand your enemies. On a regular basis he invited the Ambassador of the Soviet Union to his home for supper and they became very close. I'm convinced that in times of real world tension, their relationship played a huge and mitigating force in what could potentially have been an explosive situation."

Given the complexities facing the world today, I ask whether she thought her husband's postwar vision for promoting peace through international programs had succeeded, or failed? "I think both. We did not have a Third World War, and we have almost 300,000 Fulbrighters in 140 different countries around the world. And every single one I've spoken to talks about mind expansion, greater understanding, completely new career paths, and their worldwide networks." The accumulated impact, she says proudly, is powerful.

The Australian program began in 1949, when bonds forged with America in

1. National Selection Commission member and Assistant Director, Curatorial and Educational Services at the National Gallery of Australia, Simon Elliott with Harriet Fulbright
2. Harriet Fulbright with 2007 U.S. Scholars Tyler Summers (left) and Leland Turner (right)
3. U.S. Consul General Sydney Judith Fergin, Harriet Fulbright and 2008 Fulbright Queensland Scholar, Sharon Bonython-Ericson

2008 Australian Fulbright Scholars

Postgraduate

Sarah Beavan

Technology and Communication Scholarship sponsored by Telstra

Physics, Australian National University. Research on quantum mechanics, in particular quantum cryptography. Joint Quantum Institute at the National Institute of Standards and Technology and the University of Maryland (Aust. PhD research).

Sharon Bonython-Ericson

Fulbright Queensland Scholarship

Health Science, The University of Sydney. PhD research on Indigenous health comparisons between Far North Queensland and North America. Brown University or University of California, Los Angeles (Aust. PhD research).

Tegan Brink

Law, The University of Sydney. Master of Laws (LLM) focusing on international economic law, looking at the relationship between World Trade Organisation (WTO) law, preferential trade agreements and growing areas of global governance. Columbia University (U.S. Masters coursework).

Azadeh Dastyari

Australian Alumni (WG Walker) Scholarship

Law, Monash University. Comparative study of U.S. and Australian immigration and refugee law – interception, detention and offshore processing of asylum seekers by Australia and the U.S. Georgetown University (Aust. PhD research).

Kim Edwards

Economics, University of New South Wales. Masters in Public Administration/ International Development (MPA/ID), with a focus on macro-economic policy in small open economies. Harvard University (U.S. Masters coursework).

Natalia Galin

Science and Engineering Postgraduate sponsored by BHP Billiton

Electrical Engineering, University of Tasmania. Research to bring together geophysics and radar engineering to develop an airborne radar capable of measuring the depth of snow cover on Antarctic sea ice. University of Kansas and NASA/Goddard Space Flight Center (Aust. PhD research).

Jenny Giles

Marine Science, The University of Queensland. Research on forensic techniques to characterise aspects of Australia's contribution to the Indo-Pacific shark fin trade. Guy Harvey Research Institute, Nova Southeastern University (Aust. PhD research).

David Keith

Environmental Policy, The University of Melbourne. Undertake a PhD investigating the consequences of widespread implementation of sustainable energy technologies for transportation, and the role of technology and public policy in developing effective transitional strategies. University of California, Davis (U.S. PhD).

Christopher Lawrence

Indigenous Scholarship sponsored by the Dept. of Education, Employment & Workplace Relations

Epidemiology, The George Institute for International Health, The University of Sydney. Research interventions designed to reduce the incidence of obesity and onset of type 2 diabetes amongst minority groups. Brigham and Women's Hospital, Harvard University (Aust. PhD research).

David Liu

Computer Engineering, The University of Queensland. Research on designing patient simulators to support human factors' evaluations of medical device innovations. University of Utah (Aust. PhD research).

Clyde McGill

Visual and Performing Arts Scholarship sponsored by Anthony Joseph Pratt

Visual Art, Curtin University. Master of Fine Art focusing on exploring the cultural implications of the ambiguity of contemporary borders, including the Australian-American Pacific border. Hunter College, University of New York (U.S. Masters coursework).

Keith Pembleton

Fulbright Tasmania Scholarship

Rural Technologies, University of Tasmania. Courses in molecular biology and advanced crop physiology, aiming to develop a better understanding of gene expression that will improve the management of lucerne, particularly with regard to drought tolerance. Purdue University (Aust. PhD research).

Anthony Robinson

Fulbright Western Australia Scholarship

Viticulture, Murdoch University. Research on environmental influences on grape aroma potential. University of California, Davis (Aust. PhD research).

Ramtin Shams

Computer Engineering, The Australian National University. Research in medical image analysis, focusing on real-time registration and fusion of pre-operative and intra-operative medical images for computer assisted surgery. Harvard University (Aust. PhD research).

F

A

B

C

G

I

D

H

J

E

Postdoctoral Scholars

Dr Anthony Kemp

Geology, James Cook University. Research seeking to understand what caused the rapid growth of the Australian continent during the Proterozoic era – 1.9 to 1.5 billion years ago. Washington State University.

Dr Kenneth Pang

Medicine, Ludwig Institute for Cancer Research. Research into the molecule ribonucleic acid (RNA) and in the function and significance of RNA in the body. Harvard University.

Senior Scholars

Professor Brenda Cherednichenko

Education, Edith Cowan University. Developing a Learning, Education and Research Network for improved educational outcomes for young people in disadvantaged communities. University of Texas, El Paso.

Professor Robin Gasser

Molecular Parasitology, University of Melbourne. Research on parasite genomics, working towards developing novel intervention strategies for destructive parasites using cutting-edge advances in genomics and bioinformatics. Caltech, Washington University and the National Human Genome Research Institute.

Professor Jennifer McKay

Law, The University of Adelaide. Research water allocation and sustainable development law for water use. University of California, Berkeley.

Professor Jiyuan Tu

Computational Fluid Dynamics, RMIT. Computational and experimental modelling of multiphase bubbly flow will involve collaborative research towards developing new predictive models vital for nuclear safety and many other industries. Purdue University.

Professional Scholars

Christopher Ainsworth

Vocational Education and Training (VET) Scholarship sponsored by the Department of Education, Employment and Workplace Relations

Business Administration, University of Adelaide. Research to increase professional respect between full-time and volunteer emergency management staff through equitable access to training. The City of Austin's and the City of Dallas's Offices of Emergency Management.

Dr Abul Hashem

Business/Industry (Coral Sea) Scholarship

Weed Science, Department of Agriculture and Food, Western Australia. Research on developing synergistic herbicide mixtures to combat herbicide resistant weeds. Oregon State University.

David Hobbs

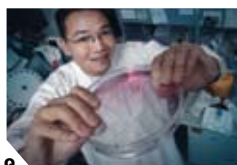

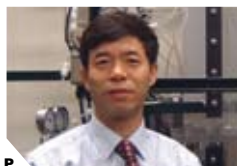

Biomechanical Engineering, Novita Children's Services Inc. Research into functional electrical stimulation (FES) and cerebral palsy, aiming to develop and evaluate an effective protocol for delivering optimal functional electrical therapy for children with cerebral palsy. Cleveland FES Center and Shriners Hospital for Children, Philadelphia.

Cameron O'Reilly

Fulbright Professional Australia-U.S. Alliance Studies Scholarship sponsored by the Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade

Public Policy, Energy Retailers Association of Australia. Research into reducing emissions while remaining competitive, carrying out a comparative public policy study of U.S. and Australian approaches to reducing greenhouse gas emissions. University of Texas and Georgetown University.

A Christopher Lawrence B Natalia Galin C Jenny Giles D Azadeh Dastyari
E Keith Pemberton F Tegan Brink G David Keith H David Hobbs I Cameron O'Reilly
J Robin Gasser K Clyde McGill L Christopher Ainsworth M Sarah Beavan
N Anthony Robinson O Anthony Kemp P Jiyuan Tu Q Kenneth Pang
R Kim Edwards S Abul Hashem T Sharon Bonython-Ericson U Ramtin Shams
V Brenda Cherednichenko W Jennifer McKay X David Liu

U.S. Senior Specialist Program

The Fulbright U.S. Senior Specialist Program supports Australian educational institutions to bring U.S. Senior Specialists to Australia for periods of two to six weeks. The award provides an international airfare and a US$200 per day honorarium. It encourages collaboration with United States faculty and professionals on curriculum and faculty development, research and a variety of other activities.

Applications from Australian universities for 2009 Senior Specialists will open in July and close mid-October 2008.

The 2008 Fulbright U.S. Senior Specialists are:

| Senior Specialist | U.S. Institution | Field | Australian Host Institutions | Period of Visit |
|--|-----------------------------------|-------------------------|---|-----------------|
| Professor Russell Dalton | University of California, Irvine | Political Science | Australian National University | Oct - Dec 08 |
| Associate Professor Sofia Gruskin | Harvard University | Public/Global Health | University of New South Wales, LaTrobe University | Dec 08 |
| Associate Professor Elsie Vergara | Boston University | Public/Global Health | University of Sydney, Children's Hospital Westmead | July - Sep 08 |
| Professor Leon Osterweil | University of Massachusetts | Information Technology | University of New South Wales, National ICT Australia (NICTA) | July - Aug 08 |
| Professor Larry Michaelson | University of Central Missouri | Business Administration | University of Sydney, Queensland University of Technology - Australian Business Deans Council Learning and Teaching Network | June - Jul 08 |
| Professor Belle Ragins | University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee | Business Administration | Monash University, University of New South Wales, University of Melbourne, University of South Australia | Oct - Nov 08 |

2008 Fulbright Symposium Healthy People, Prosperous Country

Governments will be challenged to consider how best to invest the wealth generated by Australia's current economic prosperity in the future health of the country, when Flinders University hosts the Fulbright Symposium in July 2008.

Flinders University and the Co-operative Research Centre for Aboriginal Health (CRCAH) were awarded hosting rights in January, following a nationwide competition between universities and other institutions.

Entitled Healthy People, Prosperous Country the Symposium will be held from 10-11 July at the National Wine Centre in Adelaide.

The symposium will examine how to encourage whole-of-government action to promote health and wellbeing locally and nationally, and explore ways in which existing inequities in the health status of different groups in the population can be addressed.

Deputy Vice-Chancellor (Research), Professor Chris Marlin, said universities have a major role to play in fostering debate on issues of importance to the community.

"Australia is experiencing a period of sustained economic growth and the country must decide how best to invest some of that prosperity in ways that maximise the health outcomes for our community," Professor Marlin said.

"How do you ensure that the investment we make in health infrastructure and services achieves equitable outcomes across the various sectors of society?" he asked.

"The Symposium will also be one of the first opportunities to review the findings of a major research project by the World Health Organisation's Commission on Social Determinants on Health, on which Australia has been represented by Flinders University's Head of Public Health, Professor Fran Baum, since 2005."

Professor Marlin said the symposium will bring together experts from both Australia and the United States and comes at an important time, given the previous Federal Government's intervention program into Aboriginal health.

The symposium will attract participants from a wide range of professional fields.

Applications now open for Fulbright Alumni Initiative Grant

The Fulbright Alumni Initiative Grant aims to help build individual Fulbright experiences into long-term institutional collaboration and linkages.

The grant provides A$10,000 to support a Fulbright Alumnus' work with their original home and host institutions to develop innovative projects that will foster institutional linkages and sustainable, mutually beneficial relationships.

The host institution does not have to be the primary host of the Alumnus during their Fulbright Scholarship but can be a secondary host, or a short term host they develop close links with during their Fulbright Program.

The Alumni Initiative Grant inaugural winners in 2007 were: Elizabeth Madin from the University of California, Santa Barbara (UC - SB) and Scott Carroll, University of California, Davis (UC - Davis). Elizabeth, from the Marine Science Institute at UC - SB, came to Australia to develop collaboration with the Australian Institute of Marine Science (AIMS) on ocean ecosystems. Scott Carroll, with the Centre for Population Biology at the UC - Davis, worked with The University of Queensland to collaborate on Evolutionary Conservation Biology.

The visit can be between three to twelve weeks and the grant supports any activities which achieve both short and long term objectives of ongoing institutional collaboration. It does not support individual research.

The application needs to be submitted by the Alumnus; however it also has to be supported by letters of application from the home and host institutions, with an expectation that the institutions will also contribute some funds and/or in kind support. If some collaboration is already in place, the proposal should clearly articulate how this grant will add value to what has already taken place and build the platform for future collaboration.

Applications are now being accepted and close on 30 April 2008.

To find out more about the grant, eligibility and the selection process visit the Australian-American Fulbright Commission website at www.fulbright.com.au

Alumni Association Awards

At a number of end of year receptions the Australian Fulbright Alumni Association (AFAA) honoured four Alumni with Honorary Life Membership in recognition of their contribution to the Association and the Fulbright network.

Emeritus Professor Bob Crompton AM (1968 Senior Scholar), Dr Dale Hebbard (1957 Postdoctoral Scholar) and Dr Howard Bradbury AM (1964 Senior Scholar) [in absentia] were recognised at the U.S. Ambassador's reception in November 2007.

Bob and Howard were an integral part of the group that established the AFAA in 1990. Bob served as National Vice-President and Chair of the ACT Chapter for many years and Howard served as National Treasurer for over 14 years. Dale, as Membership Secretary, was instrumental in tracking down over 4,000 U.S. and Australian Fulbright Alumni and building the membership numbers.

At a Sydney reception, Janet Flint, long standing Secretary of the NSW Chapter, was also recognised for her work with the Chapter over the past 14 years. National President of the Association, Dr Tony Worby, presented the awards and thanked Bob, Howard, Dale and Janet for their hard work and commitment.

2008 AFAA U.S. Region Chapter Representatives/Committee

The Australian Fulbright Alumni Association has established three regional chapters in the U.S. and recently the Chairs of the three chapters for the West Coast, East Coast and Midwest were announced – details below.

The U.S. chapters are being supported by the Fulbright Commission and they will link into the Australian Consulates in New York City, Los Angeles and Chicago. The chapters are focusing on the East, West and Midwest regions, and have similar goals and responsibilities to each Australian chapter.

| | | |
|-------------------|----------------------------------|---|
| WEST COAST | Pamela A. Cook, ACFRE (Co-Chair) | Pamela Cook Development and Search Consultant, CA |
| | Chris MacDonald (Co-Chair) | UC San Diego, CA |
| | Margo Wixsom | Palo Alto High School, CA |
| EAST COAST | Kristofer M. Helgen, PhD | Division of Mammals, National Museum of Natural History, Smithsonian Institution, Washington, DC |
| | Timothy Male, PhD (Co-Chair) | Director, Wildlife and Habitat Initiative, National Fish and Wildlife Foundation, Washington, DC |
| | Jon K. Miller, PhD (Co-Chair) | Assistant Director NJ CPTAS, Research Assistant Professor, Center for Maritime Systems, Stevens Institute of Technology, NJ |
| | Christine A. Zorzi, Esq. | Sabin, Bermant and Gould LLP, NY |
| MIDWEST | Joshua Cantone | University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, IL |
| | Thomas W. Hertel (Chair) | Distinguished Professor and Executive Director Center for Global Trade, Analysis Purdue University, IN |
| | Jock McOrist | University of Chicago, IL |
| | Melissah Rowe | Department of Ecology & Evolution, University of Chicago, IL |

Events and dates for 2008

April

Tuesday 22 April, Brisbane

QLD State Reception
Queensland University of Technology,
Brisbane

May

Wednesday 14 May, Sydney

NSW State Reception
U.S. Consul General's residence, Sydney

Thursday 22 May, Melbourne

Vic State Reception
U.S. Consul General's residence,
Melbourne

July

10 - 11 July

Fulbright Symposium
Flinders University, Adelaide
Topic: Healthy People, Prosperous
Country

Applications are now being sought to host the 2009 Fulbright Symposium.

The Fulbright Commission annually provides a grant of A$30,000 to support an Australian institution hosting a conference on a topic of binational relevance to Australia and the United States.

For further information and an application form visit www.fulbright.com.au

Applications close on 31 July 2008

Sponsors

The Australian-American Fulbright Commission is supported by the Australian and United States governments, Australian and United States universities, the Australian Fulbright Alumni Association (AFAA) and the following sponsors:

Anthony Joseph Pratt

Donors

Companies, state governments, universities, foundations, Fulbright alumni and individuals have all made tax deductible donations to support Fulbright Scholarships (see our web site for a list). If you would like to make a tax deductible donation to the Australian-American Fulbright Commission (in Australia or the United States) please download the appropriate donation form at www.fulbright.com.au.

Alumni Association Membership

U.S. and Australian alumni may use this form to JOIN, RENEW and UPDATE membership to the Australian Fulbright Alumni Association. Postal Address: P O Box 9541, Deakin ACT 2600. Tel: +61 2 6260 4460 Fax: +61 2 6260 4461 Email: fulbright@fulbright.com.au

| | | | |
|------------|-----------|----------|-------|
| Title: | Name: | | |
| Address: | | | City: |
| State: | Postcode: | Country: | |
| Phone: () | | Email: | |

MEMBERSHIP (to the end of the calendar year) (please tick your preference).

Full Members

- A$750 Lifetime
 A$400 10 Years
 A$220 5 Years
 A$50 1 Year

Retired Members

- A$450 Lifetime
 A$250 10 Years
 A$130 5 Years
 A$30 1 Year

AUSTRALIAN ALUMNI MAY ADD A DONATION to Australian-American Fulbright Commission Fund to a membership payment (please tick your preference).

- | | |
|--|--|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Australian Alumni (WG Walker) Scholarship | <input type="checkbox"/> Fulbright Tasmania Scholarship |
| <input type="checkbox"/> U.S. Alumni Scholarship | <input type="checkbox"/> Fulbright Victoria Scholarship |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Fulbright Queensland Scholarship | <input type="checkbox"/> Fulbright Western Australia Scholarship |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Fulbright South Australia Scholarship | |
| <input type="checkbox"/> $50 | <input type="checkbox"/> $100 |
| <input type="checkbox"/> $200 | <input type="checkbox"/> Other $ |

PAYMENT

| | |
|-----------------------------|------------|
| Membership Amount | A$ |
| Donation | A$ |
| Total Amount Payable | A$ |

Cheque (A$ Cheques only)

Payable to:
Australian-Fulbright Alumni Association
(AFAA acts as agent for the Australian-American Fulbright Commission Fund)

Credit Card (tick one) Visa Card MasterCard

Expiry Date: / / Date: / / / /

Card Holders Name: _____

Card No: _____

BEQUESTS - Please consider leaving a lasting legacy for the future generations of Fulbright Scholars. For more information about how to make a bequest please contact the Executive Director.

Signature: _____